Petroleum—Annual Circular of W. H. Samuel & Co., Liverpool.

We have now arrived at the termination of a season remarkable for the very low prices that have ruled, to the great advantage of the bulk of the retail trade but from the same cause, disastrous to importers, and the American refiners and well owners and absolutely ruinous to our Scotch and Welsh coal oil manufacturers

Beginning last year with a surplus stock (including all the markets of the world), of about 250 000 barrels, the production went on at the average rate of about 7 000 barrels of refined (equal to about 11 000 barrels of crude) per day whilst the consumption of the world, estimated carefully from the most reliable sources, does not exceed an average of 6 000 barrels per day the production having thus overtaken the consumption, the unavailable stock has been steadily accumulating at the average rate of over 1 000 barrels per day, until it has attained the present enormous total of about 850,000 barrels (equal to nearly half the total quantity consumed in the whole of last year), accompanied by a corresponding fall in prices

These low prices will no doubt have a direct effect on the production of the crude oil at the wells which is estimated already to have fallen to about 8 000 barrels per day against the maximum of 15 000 barrels last November but the slightest encouragement as to price, it is believed would at once have the effect of again increasing the quantity indefinitely It is an extremely difficult and hazardous matter for the well owners to reduce the production a well once shut off we are informed hardly ever again produces the same quantity as before, and consequently it is only the deep pumping wells that are stopped and those only partially.

There have been such extraordinary and unlooked for fluctuations in this article, that we hardly like to venture an opinion as to the probable future course of prices but in endeavoring to form any estimate the following seem to be amongst the principal points for consideration

There appears to be already a stock sufficient to meet the requirements of the world for the next six months and the further accumulation during the summer will undoubtedly be large and in the event of higher prices could and, probably would at once be identifinitely increased, presenting an unsupirable check to any permanent speculative improvement The greatly reduced cost of transport from the interior to the seaboard has as a natural result, greatly diminished the cost of the oil, it being now brought from the wells to Europe for less than it formerly cost to carry it to the American refineries and it is understood that even the present low prices here will still leave a margin of profit to the producers The rate of American exchange has, of course an important influence on the cost here, and all the indications point to a higher rather than a lower rate, and, in the event of disturbances on the continent the bulk of the shipments from America must be diverted to British ports, and will come on this market

These considerations would point to the improbability of prices during this year being maintained at a point higher than will just pay a small profit over cost of production—say about 1s 5d to 1s 6d per gallon here

Against these views, on the other hand, may be the possibility of error in the calculations on which they are based as to stock, production &c but these estimates appear to have been confirmed from several independent sources they have not hitherto been challenged, and they appear to be generally accepted by the trade as correct There is also the important question as to whether the amount of the daily production at the wells can be kept up to its present high standard for any further great length of time this would seem to be almost an impossibility yet they appear to yield the greatest production when prices are low and the largest wells are struck at such periods there seems to be little fear of any immediate failure of the production, though some few are of the opinion that there will come a period perhaps not very far distant, when the supply will be exhausted, but of this as yet, there have been no indications, and it is difficult to conceive the vastness of the natural reservoirs which during the past six years have yielded up nearly 500 millions of gallons without showing the least sign of exhaustion It may be further urged that, in face of the unfavorable advices from Europe, it is unlikely that any large quantities will be shipped from America, and that this will lead to a rapid diminution of the European stocks and higher prices here but this does not affect the question of stock as a whole and even if it were so to happen the effect could be but temporary, if the stock is not held in Europe it is held in America, which is now, virtually, almost the same thing, the Atlantic Cable having rendered us to a great extent independent of the stocks held here, and indeed under a normal and healthy condition of trade the bulk of the surplus stock should always be held at the place of production, and to this we believe the course of trade will ultimately tend.

General Stonewall Jackson a colored nurse died in Jackson, Madison county, Tennessee on the 30th day of April, 1867, at the advanced age of one hundred and thirteen years, nine months and twelve days She was a slave in the Jackson family from her early life until twenty five years ago, when the General set her free

As far as heard from, no serious injury has been done to the fruit or grain in the West by the recent frosts.

James Gordon Bennett, Jr., Challenged to Fight a Duel in Paris.

The Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette (Geo Alfred Townsend) in a letter to that paper gives the following interesting bit of gossip He says,

We had, until recently, Mr Jas Bennett, of the boat Henrietta, here His boat still lies on the coast, waiting for a buyer, as the other yachts that he beat, and they will be used to win money as fast as they can. At the Cherbourg regatta Mr Bennett accepted a great deal of hospitality on this side of the deep, and at Count Rusa's one night he stroked the goatee of young Spanish nobleman, both of them being "how-come you so," whereat the Spaniard, who would not fight himself, persuaded two of his friends to challenge the only son of his popular father—The Herald might have had a chance to get a first-class sensation out of the running through the body of this rash ocean sailor, sub heading it thus

PASS THE FIRST THE LINGS
MR BENNETT HAS HIM ON THE RIB
OUR SON WOUNDED
DESPERATE VALOR OF OUR SON
THE CASTILIAN POPPED
"INFIDEL! I HAVE THEE ON THE HIP!"
THE FATAL CUT
OBITUARY
APPEARANCE OF OUR NEW OFFICE IN MOURNING

But the opportunity to beat all its cotemporaries, was lost by Doctor Carey and Lawrence Jerome persuading the Spaniards that Bennett could peel an apple with a bullet Thus do the youths of the Republic excel upon the sea and the shore!

Bennett visited the London Times office and met with scanty courtesy He was asked to dinner by the Duchess of Salisbury, and was so set up by her united kindness and wine, that he said to a friend "Do you know why this is thus? They fear us! Yes bigdad! they tremble before us! I tell you boys, I shall plant the Stars and Stripes on the Tower of London!"

He is a good fellow, nevertheless, and behaved himself well I don t know him, but all that I tell you is true

Booth's Diary.

Tribune Correspondence.

Some weeks ago the leading journals of the country almost unanimously demanded the publication of a copy of the Booth diary which General Butler in Congress insinuated had been "spoliated" since it came into the hands of the Administration The Judge Advocate General's attention was called to this general demand of the press, and to the propriety of publishing a copy of the diary Judge Holt at once admitted that it would be proper, and that it had in fact become necessary that the book should be published but he preferred that the testimony of the witness Conger who took the diary from Booth's body, should go to the public with the copy—Judge Holt therefore promised that as soon as Conger's testimony should be given before the Judiciary Committee the press should be furnished with a copy of the book and testimony relative to its capture, condition, then, &c

Conger's testimony being closed your correspondent, in a note to Judge Holt yesterday, recalled the promise of publication, etc, and asked to be permitted to make a copy To this Judge Holt replied that he would be glad to comply with the request but he had no authority to furnish the copy except by express direction of the Secretary of War Mr Stanton was then applied to and the facts and circumstances all explained Mr Stanton refused to give permit for a copy to be made adding The diary shall not be published if I can prevent it! The Secretary of War did not assign any reason for this determination It is but just to the President and the Judge Advocate General to say that they both coincided with the opinions expressed by the editors of various journals as to the propriety of giving publicity to the diary and that they now are desirous that it shall go to the public

Popular Errors.

Among the popular errors of the day an exchange very truthfully enumerates the following

That editors keep reading rooms—that they are fond of loud talking in their sanctums—that they can write while listening to a long winded story That they are delighted to get anything to fill up their paper with That every man's ax is a matter of public interest That it don't make much difference whether copy be written on both sides of the sheet That editors return rejected manuscript. That they like to write with their feet near a pair of unwashed feet poised on their desk or table That they like people to carry off exchanges before they have been read—and that they have plenty of time to talk, drink and smoke with everybody

Advertising.

A Western contemporary says Advertising is to the trader what ploughing is to the farmer There would be some natural production if the sod of the earth was never broken and it would hold about the same relation to the production of a well cultivated garden that the profits of unadvertised trade do to the advertised!

Another declares that, "now days nobody but the slowest dried up old fossils ever question the advantage of advertising. One might with as much propriety doubt the evidence of his own eyes and ears The style and extent of a business man's advertising is a sure test of his energy and capacity, the quantity and quality of his stock, and the amount of business he transacts"

The losses occasioned by the great overflow on the Missouri river bottom are estimated at over $20,000 000 The flood at last accounts still continued

If you go on with this rioting, by the eternal God! I will throw grape and canister into you. Now disperse and go to your homes or to your work"

Circular to the Charitable and Appeal in Behalf of Distressed Friends.

Date et dabitur vobis.

TITUSVILLE, CRAWFORD CO., PA., May 15th, 1867.

The Rev Napoleon Mignault, pastor of St. Titus' Church of this city, would respectfully submit the following brief statement to the kind public, which should prompt a few thousands to do all in their power to come to the rescue, viz.

Some three years ago, when plenty, success and prosperity dwelled in and blessed these oil regions, a much needed church, presbytery and school house were, with the authorization of our Right Reverend Bishop, hastily built and completed The heavy debt of twelve thousand ($12,000) dollars was incurred by it, hoping to soon liquidate it, as everything indicated a lasting prosperity. But to his great regret, hard times destroyed his plans and hopes. After much labor, and the incessant toil of two years, he finds himself entirely unable to pay off the heavy indebtedness He has tried all available means at home—concerts, donations, collections, lectures, &c.,—taxed his parishioners to their utmost ability, surrendered, to a great extent, his own personal resources, failed after all in accomplishing his object, and is driven to the necessity of having resource to a grand gift concert and fair, at which over ten thousand ($10,000) dollars worth of prizes shall be distributed, some of the prizes being worth as much as $500 A list of some of the prizes can be seen on the back of the ticket. Please notice that only 15,000 tickets shall be issued at one dollar a ticket.

When all this is considered, the Rev. N Mignault feels that this application to purchase tickets entitling to a gift at the fair will not be made in vain nor considered intrusive. Send one dollar to his address, which will entitle you to a ticket to the fair and to a prize. A partial list of prizes can be seen on the back of the ticket.

As to the matter of lotteries or anything of that character, the Rev N M is as much opposed to them as any other Christian, his is no such scheme, or the ecclesiastical authorities would not have given their kind approbation, which may be seen below. Let prompt attention be given to the matter; let the money be forwarded to the Rev. NAP. MIGNAULT, Titusville, Postoffice drawer 1,265, in Postoffice orders, so that the Fair may take place about ninety days from date. Remember, only 15,000 tickets, at one dollar each, entitling the holder to a free admittance and a prize, some of which are worth $500

APPROBATION OF THE ADMINISTRATOR—This is to certify, that Rev. Napoleon Mignault, pastor of St. Titus' church, Titusville, Pa., proposes to pay the heavy debts on his church and parsonage and convent by getting up a Grand Gift Concert and Fair; indeed, he must have recourse to some means of this kind, otherwise the generous Catholics of Titusville, who have already been overtaxed in consequence of the large improvements made, will not be able to pay off their debts. I approve of the zeal that clevates the enterprise

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—I, the undersigned, Pastor of St. Titus' church, Titusville, Pa, do hereby certify that the proceeds of our Grand Fair and Gift Distribution, to take place in this city, shall be appropriated to the exclusive charitable object of liquidating the many debts of our church, parsonage and convent—Fair to take place in about ninety days

Witness my hand and seal of our church.

The President Goes to Boston.

That there should be a manifest disinclination on the part of President Johnson to accept a public invitation to exhibit himself in any quarter, after his experience at Chicago, is not remarkable. Yet invitations have not been wanting. First, there was the laying of the corner stone of his own father's monument at Raleigh, and although a true filial respect would have seemed to dictate the propriety of such an excursion, it evidently reminded him of the unhappy result attending his western expedition to lay a corner stone for the lamented Douglas. Next came an invitation from the workingmen men of Chicago who have been engaged in an eight-hour strike, and felt assured that a Presidential make-weight in the contest of labor against capital would ensure a victory for the former. Third, the unveiling of the statue of Henry Clay in Louisville, on the 30th of May, furnishes an occasion that would have appeared irresistable to the President a year ago, but, as yet, is manifestly unattractive. Fourth, the Bunker Hill monument celebration on the 17th of June, which would inevitably bring our President into juxtaposition with Phillips, and Garrison, and Pillsbury, and compel him to board the Puritanic beast of Ephesus in their very den, a proposition too monstrous to be entertained. And lastly, the Masonic celebration at Boston on the 24th of June. The latter is more congenial to his Excellency. A delegation of Masons from Massachusetts, among them Gen. Banks, together with members of the fraternity in the District of Columbia, recently called upon Mr. Johnson and urged him to promise definitely to be present on that occasion. It was proposed that two hundred Knights Templar should form an escort from Washington to Boston and return. The President replied that he would be much gratified to attend on the 24th of June. He would probably do so, but had thus far declined to accept any invitations with which he had been honored because of the incompleteness of the work under the reconstruction acts, which had hardly been initiated. It is understood, however, that he has since graciously acceded to the invitation, and will attend the celebration. This is altogether proper. Whenever Johnson can be used as a portable commodity, unattended by Nasby and Seward, and made to dignify, in an official capacity, the festivities of a popular order, he will prove eminently advantageous. It was a sly dodge, however, of the committee of invitation, to engage that the proposed escort should return with their guest to Washington. The proximity of Connecticut to Massachusetts, we apprehend, would offer a strong temptation to the President to enlarge the plan of his excursion, in search of nutmegs. The only State in the Union which has survived his political policy would heartily welcome her chief apostle.

But the President will be in good hands, and "the ancient and honorable order" will effectually regulate his manœuvers. We shall hear no declarations concerning "a body hanging on the verge of the Government," and no exhortations to the people to "hang Wendell Phillips and Thad. Stevens." It is not likely either that he will intimate the possibility of his proclaiming himself Dictator, or endeavor to show that the Mobile riot, like that at New Orleans, in his own opinion, was instigated by Union men for the purpose of massacreing inoffensive rebels. On the contrary, he will be required to "stand by the pleas and walk by the square," or

"Mammy divine,
G'ory of ages, shine!"

will Morganize him more effectually than did ever the Republican party.

Strictly Confidential.

To Ira H. Pierce, City Attorney, Titusville:

DEAR SIR—Candor compels me to declare your communication in the HERALD of May 16th, as a literary composition, is on a par with the legal knowledge displayed in the case, Commonwealth v. Dodd, and almost as bad as your handwriting. The orthography is faulty, "innudoes," and afterwards "innundoes," for Innendoes, which is really a very pretty word when spelt correctly; "ordnance," which means artillery, for ordinance, may pass in Meadville, before leaving school, but are not permitted to a City Attorney in Titusville. And then the grammar; oh fie, Mr. Mr. Pierce! what do you mean by "in which request Dodd refused to grant." This is too Dairy Dumpish even for Pennsylvania; and again, "warrants of arrest was issued;" why not, were issued? You should rise above the affidavit whine of the third paragraph, and such stereotyped court house twaddle as "our worthy policemen," "tired and worn out firemen," and afterwards, "Mr. Doherty," next, "John Doherty," and lastly "Doherty," all describing one and the same person. "Mr." respectable, then plain "John," and lastly only common "Doherty;" remember you are addressing the public as City Attorney. Rather amusing, the assertion that the "Chief of Police," who was then at Pittsburgh, "gave orders;" rather venturesome is what follows, "The above statement is vouched for by Messrs. Bevan, Custar, Goodwin et al." Such composition, orthography, grammar, law, and assumptions for facts, in one brief communication from the City Attorney, may well need a ten per cent. tax to cover them up in these hard times; but heaven help those who have to pay, if you are selected as the trusted adviser of the Council who are to spend our taxes.

Your communication, however, possesses one redeeming quality, the P. S. reminds me of Artemus Ward's "P.S. This is a joke." So as your P. S. explains, the words "majesty," "royal highness," are offsets to "innundoes." Now, what are "innundoes," or "innudoes," Mr Pierce? you forgot to tell us that. It was very friendly to explain what you meant, for some persons might have supposed, that like Dan. O'Connell, when he called the fish-fag a participle and a preposition, you hoped "his majesty" would receive it as a personal provocation.

Between ourselves, Ira, I think the Common Council are asking too much of their new City Attorney, when they require him not simply to furnish legal advice, but to throw in personal attacks, to boot. Still, you might retain the position for some time, if it is perfectly understood, that the quality of the legal ability is of no consequence, as Mr. Toots expresses it, provided the personal attacks are sufficiently spicy, and the ten per cent. levy is to cover up Mayor's, Council men's and Attorneys' blunders by feeling you to abuse me, I trust I shall survive it; you ought to get rich at it; my only doubt is, whether the citizens will stand it. On reflection, if intended to be witty, do you think your composition is a success? Or was it meant to be sarcastic, or to offset scurrility? If so, allow me in all sincerity, to assure you, that you misuse the word, and understand it no better than you spell it; because in the Justice's report which has raised this "tempest in a teapot," there is not one particle of scurrility. That is an assertion as is an assertion, to quote Captain Cuttle, and is not vouched for by either Goodwin, Bevan, Custar, et al

Was it not a smart trick, neighbor Pierce, signing your name as a bait, and then persuading R. D. Fletcher, President First National Bank, P. T. Withrop, Chief of (two) Police, M. R. Rouse, Constable, George Custar and John S. Bevan, Councilmen, and last though not least, (by long odds), Joel N. Angier, Mayor, to crucify themselves on such a document as that? They can never forgive you. The HERALD travels far and wide, and if the above "city authorities" are not immortalized by that precious "I would if I could, but if I can't, how can I" specimen of literature, then the gentlemen I have known in the oil region must have departed, or been mightily changed; that's all.

They will be apt to reason thusly: Lawyers must be scarce in Titusville, and legal ability at such a premium as to be beyond the reach of the city fathers, when, instead of meeting a legal point referred to in a police report, you complain in one line that the communication is anonymous, and in the next announces the writer. The public know the points we differ upon. Leonard Dodd has narrated the facts; if they be true, it was an unseemly attempt to pervert justice, for the sake of covering up what never can be covered up, and therefore should always be cleared up, alleged illegal action of an officer. Ask J. B. Pasterias' son what was the precise language addressed by Constable Doherty on that Sabbath day, to Dodd; justify such language you cannot, excuse it if you will, but do not fall into the error that your forcible feeble wit and bad grammar, directed personally against me, will divert the public from your legal blunder of settling a case of assault and battery on an officer; nor will it raise you in the estimation of your fellow citizens, either as an attorney, a man, or a scholar.

There have been too many settlements, too many cases withdrawn on conditions. The terrors and costs of going to Meadville have become a reproach, and our laws and the offices wherein they are invoked or practised, reek with rumors of compromises; and our citizens know it, and complain of it. When you crown all this with the connivance of the City Attorney with some of the Council and the Mayor, who pay him with the city funds to suppress investigation, by three countercharges and issuing three warrants against one individual, suggesting recognizances to an excessive amount, and afterwards permit all this froth and fury to settle down as soon as the individual agrees to withdraw his charge against the policeman; when Councilmen subscribe to pay that individual's costs in order to make all things pleasant, I assert, unhesitatingly, you do no credit to the citizens who have confided their interests to your keeping. You shock and disgust your constituents, and you can never arrest vice, nor check crime, until those who are entrusted with carrying out the law are ready and willing to submit to its provisions, and absolutely refuse to shield even their friends from the consequences of overstepping it. This is the issue you have provoked, and beginning with your name, following with the five others signed beneath you, and closing with his honor the Mayor, you are all arraigned for this mistaken policy at the bar of public opinion, and will answer to your fellow-citizens for your error. I leave your case for their verdict.

GEO M MOWHRAY.

INCENDIARY FIRES—About 12 o'clock on Saturday night a fire was discovered in a shed in the rear of Mr. O K. Howe's barrel factory, on Mechanic street. The alarm was promptly given but the fire was put out before the engines had arrived.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning the cooper shop owned by W. D. Miller of Corry, on the railroad back near Franklin street, was discovered to be on fire in four places. When the fire was discovered it had made such headway that all attempts to extinguish it were fruitless, and in a short time the building was entirely destroyed.

The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, as the building had not been occupied for some time.

A COW NUISANCE.—A cow is a very good thing to have in a family, especially if that family happens to contain a number of young children; but a cow promenading up and down the street in front of a residence all night long—and that cow with an old fashioned cow-bell around her neck—is a nuisance. Such a cow doth roam up and down Spring street, being very particular to shake her bell as much as possible in front of each residence, much to the disgust of those who have retired for the night. If the above-mentioned cow must run at large, her owner will oblige many residents of Spring street by removing her bell.

EVERY person found taking earth from any of the streets will be prosecuted and fined according to law.

T. GOODWIN, Street Commissioner.

Gone.

DEDICATED TO MISS A. ——

Gone, the happy trust of years,
Gone, the timid hopes and fears;
Gone, the star whose glorious ray
Spanned with light my lonely way;
Gone, the dream that I loved best,
God of mercy! give me rest!

Oh! this torturing load of thought!
For no price can peace be bought!
I am I live and bear this pain
Throbbing wildly through my brain!
Cease, my heart, thy anguished cry,
Else, oh! break and let me die.

Could I but forget the past
Peace and rest might come at last;
But forever through my brain
Rings the music of his name;
And the words I would forget
Make me start and tremble yet.

Vows of love that send a dart,
Strange and joyful through my heart,
Still are whispered in my sleep,
And I waken but to weep.
Every morn my grief is new.
Every night I dream him true.

All the sunlight seems but gloom,
And enticing looks the tomb.
Oh! could I but hush my breath
In the plying arms of death,
I might never wake to know
All this dreary waste of woe.

Heal, oh Lord! my breaking heart!
Peace unto my soul impart.
Wounded, bleeding, let me be
Still a loving child to Thee;
Let me lean upon thy breast
While I learn thy perfect rest.

Gone, the happy trust of years,
Gone, the timid hopes and fears,
Gone, the star whose glorious ray
Spanned with light my lonely way,
But not gone, Thy love for me,
Father! let me come come to Thee.

MARYLAND, April 30th, 1867. M.

The American Department of the Paris Exhibition a Failure.

Nearly all American correspondents at Paris pronounce and agree that the American department of the Exhibition is very discreditable to the vastness and diversity of our national resources, and in the eyes of strangers there, we rank far below the progressive states of Europe. This sorry failure is attributed to a variety of causes, but principally to the indifference of our producing classes, which, in its turn, can be traced to the failure of the Federal Government to produce a livelier popular interest in the Universal Exposition by more systematic and energetic action. Had it made as intelligent and earnest efforts as most of the governments of Europe, the participation of our people in the international concourse would have been unquestionably much more general.

The Petroleum interest is practically unrepresented. While West Virginia exhibited sufficient enterprise to forward some commodities, there was nothing appreciable sent from this important region. The State neglected to make any appropriation for the expenses of the Commissioner appointed by Governor Curtin, and as he was thrown upon his own resources by the Commissioner of the general Government, he very properly declined to fulfil the duties of his appointment.

Another striking fact is referred to in the American exhibition. It is the unequal representation of the several parts of the United States and of the several branches of their industry. Of the Eastern States, New York and Pennsylvania have contributed proportionately far more than the rest. But even these two great States have made but a small display of their agricultural and industrial products. The contributions of the New England States appear utterly insignificant, considering the vastness of their manufacturing interests. For once, Yankee enterprise has failed to take the lead. Of the Western States, Illinois alone makes anything like a worthy show, though even she could have done a great deal better. The other members of the great agricultural Empire of the Northwest are represented but not as fully as they ought to be.

In the Southern States hardly any efforts seem to have been made to exhibit the great variety of their products. Together they have not contributed one-fourth as much as Illinois. As to the representation of the various branches of industry, none, with the exception of sewing machines, and piano manufacturing, make a large and varied display. Even of labor-saving machinery, with which our inventors could have astonished the European public, there is not enough on the ground to show the great triumphs of American mechanical ingenuity in the most favorable light. While the contributions have not been liberal in any, it is humiliatingly small in most branches. Altogether, the American portion of the Exposition is a failure, both as a whole and in details, and not at all what it should have been, the exact epitome of the material life of the United States.

MILITARY AND CONJUGAL.—Editors Herald I noticed in your columns, Saturday, the marriage announcement of Major E. W. Mathews and Miss Amelia C. Benham. As an old comrade of the Major I have been reflecting a little on this affair, and some things are past my comprehension. I know that the Major was a good soldier; that when the war broke out, "he threw his heart into the cause and himself into the saddle," and by coolness, good judgment and gallantry at Antietam and other fields, won his promotion as one of the First Pa. Vol. Artillery, his old battery ever acquitting itself with such credit only as follows good discipline, rare courage in a leader. Now what do I find!—that the Major, though never forced to surrender to the enemy in any engagement before, has become a captive, yea a willing one, as I verily believe, and has placed his freedom in the care and keeping of another! I feel like saying, "Fare thee well, Major, though you have lost your liberty, may you bear your bonds as becometh one who has borne the name of a good soldier! Though doomed to a life of servitude and chains, may you never forget that the Goddess of Liberty has claims on you now, no less than of yore! May you never forget the good maxims learned in the army, never fail to be on hand at tattoo roll call; never be absent without leave; keep at least twenty days rations on hand, hold yourself in readiness to march at a moments's notice; never sleep out of camp without permission of the commanding officer of your post, and I would add, keep your command under good discipline—but you have none, poor fellow. Major, farewell! Ever yours,

COMRADE.

WHAT HE DID WITH IT.—We noticed on Friday that a young lad named Albert Allen absconded from his home in Lincoville this county after stealing from his parents the sum of $4,000. Handbills were issued offering a reward of $50 for his arrest, and officers were sent in pursuit. They came upon his track in Cleveland, where he had been speculating somewhat. He bought an interest in a liquor saloon of one James McNanna, for the sum of 4,000, but afterwards became dissatisfied with his purchase, and sold his interest back to McNanna for $100. He has not since been heard of, and at this rate of expenditure is likely to get rid of all the money before he is overtaken.

—Major Hays, the Assessor for this District, will receive and determine appeals, relative to any excessive or erroneous valuation by Assistant Assessors, as follows: On the 20th and 21st inst., at Franklin; on the 22d and 24th at Clarion; on the 27th and 28th at Mercer; on the 30th and 31st at Meadville. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Chautauqua Lake and its surroundings, form one of Nature's most charming pictures. Travelers may journey thousands of miles and find no scenery so enchanting, no landscape so beautiful!

Business men and dyspeptics generally, and the ladies in particular, go and take a trip on the Lake, breathe the pure and invigorating air, and behold some of the grandest scenery in the world! Nature's medicine is better for you than drugs concocted by man; change your dusk stool, your invalid easy chair, with its humdrum and wearying walls and curtains for a lounge on the steamer's deck, and a sight of—

"Hills, rock-ribbed and ancient as the sun," and—

"Gentle vales with groves between."

Chautauqua Lake is fast becoming a favorite resort for invalids and tourists. To accommodate them, excellent hotels are established at either extremity of the Lake. Parties going to or from the oil regions to Buffalo will find this route as cheap, about as quick and far pleasanter, than by Erie.

The staunch steamer CHAUTAUQUA, has been refitted throughout this spring, and an awning added, extending from the pilot house to the stern, and began her regular trips from Jamestown to Maysville, April 22d. Connects with the Lake Shore Railroad at Westfield; and at Buffalo at 5 20 p. m. James M. Murry, so well known and so popular, is still in command.

HILL & MURRY, Proprietors.

Titusville, April 30, 1867.

American Hotel—To the Public.—I take pleasure in announcing that on the 8th of April I reopened the American Hotel and resumed its management in person. The house is thoroughly refitted and put in good order to accomodate in the best manner, those who may give it their patronage. If it has been my good fortune from long experience and care to be considered generally successful in the effort to give satisfaction, I would say that my exertions for that purpose shall be doubled and that all my old friends, who, knowing me well, and as many new ones as may see fit to come, can find a good stopping place in Titusville at the "American" with FINANCIAL.

FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS,

AND DEALERS IN

Government and other Desirable Securities,

NO. 5 NASSAU STREET, N. Y., recommend to investors the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

OF THE

Central Pacific R. R. Co.

This Company is constructing under the patronage of the United States Government

the Western end of the Great National Railway across the Continent.

Their line will extend from Sacramento, California, across the Sierra Nevadas to the California State line, traversing the RICHEST AND MOST POPULOUS SECTION OF CALIFORNIA, and thence through the GREAT MINING REGIONS OF THE TERRITORIES, to the vicinity of Salt Lake City

It forms the SOLE WESTERN LINK of the only route to the Pacific which is adopted by Congress and aided by the issue of UNITED STATES BONDS

Their road is already completed, equipped and running for 94 miles from Sacramento to within 12 miles of the summit of the Sierras, and a large amount of the work of Grading, Tunnelling, &c., beyond that point has been accomplished

The FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of this Company afford unusual inducements of Safety and Profit to Investors, for the following among other reasons, viz.

First The rate of interest is SIX PER CENT IN GOLD, payable semi annually in the City of New York

Second The PRINCIPAL is payable in GOLD at maturity.

Third The cost of the Bonds, NINETY FIVE PER CENT and accrued interest, is TEN PER CENT less than that of the cheapest Six Per Cent. Gold Bearing Bonds of the Government.

Fourth. The UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PROVIDES NEARLY HALF THE AMOUNT NECESSARY TO BUILD THE ENTIRE ROAD, AND LOOKS MAINLY TO A SMALL PERCENTAGE ON THE FUTURE TRAFFIC FOR RE-PAYMENT.

Fifth. Owing to this liberal provision, accompanied with EXTENSIVE GRANTS OF PUBLIC LANDS by which the Government fosters this great national enterprise THE SUCCESS IS SENSURED CERTAIN AND ITS FINANCIAL STABILITY IS ALTOGETHER INDEPENDENT OF THE CONTINGENCIES WHICH ATTEND ORDINARY RAILROAD ENTERPRISES

Sixth. The Security of the FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS is therefore AMPLE, and their character for safety and reliability is equalized only by that of the obligations of the GOVERNMENT itself

Seventh The net earnings of the completed portion are ALREADY LARGELY IN EXCESS OF THE INTEREST OBLIGATIONS WHICH THE COMPANY WILL INCUR ON TWICE THE DISTANCE, and are steadily increasing rendering the UNINTERRUPTED PAYMENT OF THE INTEREST ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN

Eighth At the present rate of Gold they pay nearly 8¾ Per Cent per annum, on the amount invested

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $1,000 with semi-annually Gold Coupons attached, payable in New York and are offered for the present at 95 per cent. and accrued interest (in currency) from January first.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York, or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise will receive punctual attendance
